

A note from the Chief...

Chief Matt Gregory

I believe every good citizen should give back to their community in some way. The willingness to volunteer, to freely give your time and energy to a worthwhile cause is one of the most profound expressions of service. The Buckhannon Police Department VIPS Program is a unique opportunity to do just that. By assisting the Police Department with the many activities that we manage throughout the year, volunteers will be an invaluable resource for the City as well as all of the Buckhannon community. In addition to this, volunteers will forge new, lasting partnerships with their city police department while being a part of something that gives back to the place we all call home...

... the Buckhannon community.

Matthew Gregory
Chief of Police

Volunteers can be an important part of any organization and are proven to be a valuable asset to law enforcement agencies. Volunteers help to increase police responsiveness, service delivery, and information input, and they provide new program opportunities. In addition, volunteers can bring new skills and expertise to the job and prompt new enthusiasm. It is the policy of this police department to use qualified volunteers for specified tasks and duties that can create efficiencies for the department and improve services to the community. Volunteers are intended to supplement and support, rather than supplant, sworn officers and civilian personnel.
